It's been almost two years since the release of "It's a trap! reader's companion volume one", but the wait is finally over.

2004's inaugural release in the "reader's companion" series marked the first time that acts such as José González (now signed to Mute), David & the Citizens (Friendly Fire), Peter Bjorn and John (Hidden Agenda) and Khoma (nee Koma, now on Roadrunner) first got heard outside of their home countries. This time around, it's not all that different - many of these artists are virtually unknown outside the borders of their respective homelands and almost half of the songs are being heard here for the first time anywhere. Which of course begs the question: Who will the breakout acts from "Volume two" be? All of them, I hope. They are all certainly more than worthy.
